

For the attention of the Librarian &/or
Head of English

The Shakespeare Collection is a global online resource for the study of Shakespeare offering the complete Arden Shakespeare, primary sources, historical editions, criticism, reference works and visual materials.

Students can compare historical and contemporary editions of Shakespeare's plays using functionality which allows students to compare texts on screen side by side.

The Shakespeare Collection brings these famous works to life by offering annotated prompt books and theatrical diary entries as well as photographs and drawings of stage productions and film adaptations.

The Shakespeare Collection offers:

- ? The complete Arden Shakespeare including texts, notes, introductions and commentaries
- ? Historical editions and adaptations including facsimile copies of 29 quartos published between 1597 and 1634, the First Folio and major editions from 17th, 18th and 19th centuries
- ? Over 200 prompt books offering insight on staging and role interpretation
- ? More than 500 entries from the Gordon Crosse Theatrical Diaries on Shakespeare performances between 1890-1953
- ? Criticism and commentary from Shakespeare Criticism and journals such as Shakespeare Studies and Early Modern Literary Studies
- ? Reference works, encyclopaedias, biographies and web links
- ? Images, Illustrations and photographs

Students can broaden their understanding of Shakespeare's work using the wide resources of reference and criticism as well as the historical editions which show how the texts have been altered over the years. The Shakespeare Collection allows students to search and browse via numerous options such as character, theme, text, date and author and supports all levels of academic study.
